BOON EDAM,

Corporate office + product display showroom –
Boon edam entrance systems india pvt ltd

A global brand more than 140 years in service tagged as 'Your Entry Experts' wished to establish a headquarter office base in India along with a showroom connected to their assembly unit. The idea is to reflect the house colours as the main theme of the design. The staggering strips of these colours in laminate finish formed the entrance backdrop and the central spine, which flange into various spaces such as open staff working zones, cabins and conference room. These strips towards the conference area alternating with clear glass panes double up as the partition and filling storage units, and thus, camouflaging the central columns along the length. The end of corridor and the conference space opens into a wide spread showroom displaying live scale products. The overall space is enveloped with hues of greys reflected in the ceiling, floor and wall panels with a vivid play of suspended ceiling light fixtures spread along depth of the office.
